THOMAS DE WITT CUYLER FOUND DEAD TODAY

CHAIRMAN OF RAIL EXECUTIVES DEAD OF HEART ATTACK PHYSICIAN AVERS

Porter Finds Body When He Tries To Awaken The Director

APPARENTLY HAD BEEN IN THE BEST OF HEALTH

Believe Executive had been Dead Only An Hour When Discovered

(Associated Press.)
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—Thomas DeWitt Cuyler, a director of the Pennsylvania railroad company and chairman of the railroad executives association, was found dead today in the private car of President Rea of the Pennsylvania in Broad street station.

Mr. Cuyler was in Rochester, N.
Y., yesterday and was apparently in good health.

The private car arrived at Broad street station early today and was placed on a side track. According to instructions, a porter called Mr. Cuyler at 8 a. m. He received no response and, becoming alarmed, summoned an attendant and a physician.

The doctor pronounced Mr. Cuyler dead. Death was due to a heart attack. He had been dead a little more than an hour, according to the opinion of the physician.

Mr. Cuyler was a lawyer, but most of his time was taken up with railroad and financial affairs. He came prominently before the country in the recent railroad shop strike by virtue of his position as chairman of the railway executives and took a firm stand against some of the demands of the strikers, especially that relating to seniority.

He was born in Philadelphia and was 68 years old.

MRS. ELLIOTE PECK DIES AT HOSPITAL

Mrs. James Elliott Peck died at Benevolent hospital at 7 o'clock this morning, after a brave fight of over two weeks to rally from an attack of blood poisoning. She was patient an responsive to every effort made by those who were doing all in their power to relieve her, and during her rational moments conversed cheerfully with friends and relatives who had kept ceaseless vigil, as late as Wednesday evening expressing the hope and belief that she would recover.

At Hartselle, where she and her husband have resided for the past several years, and where she grew to womanhood, her death will be universally mourned. She was loved by all.

She is survived by her husband, Barbara, a little daughter of 5 years, father and mother, Rev. and Mrs. J.
H. Hill of Albany, a sister, Mrs. J. B.
French of Hartselle, a brother, Robert, of Albany.

Funeral services will be held from the First Christian Church at Hartselle Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and will be conducted by Rev. Robert Harrell the pastor, assisted by Rev. R. M. Howell of the Methodist Church. Interment will be made in city cemetery.

CONFERENCE DISCUSSES TOBACCO'S USE

BURK AUTO CO. IS BOUGHT TODAY BY BIRMINGHAM FIRM FOR A LARGE SUM

One Of Biggest Realty Transactions In Many Months
Recorded Here

SALE DOES NOT INVOLVE
REAL ESTATE HOLDINGS
Burk Company One Of Pioneer
Automobile Establishments
In The Valley

One of the biggest realty transactions in many months was recorded here today with formal announcement of the sale of the Burk Auto company to Folenwider Bros., of Birmingham.
The sale has been rumored for several days, but negotiations were not completed at the time, J. J. Burke, head of the automobile company, announced.

The consideration involved in the sale was not made public, but rumors in realty circles were to the effect that it was one of the largest deals here in a long time. The transfer becomes effective on January 1, 1923, it was stated.

According to Mr. Burk the sale does not involve his real estate holdings in the Twin Cities, nor the Hartselle branch of the company. It includes the agency in the Twin Cities, in Moulton and Athens, where the company has been operating several years.

The Burk Auto company was one of the pioneer automobile establishments in the Tennessee Valley. It began business many years ago on Lee street and later moved into its own quarters on the southern side of Lee street, handling at one time the Ford and Reo cars and later the Ford car alone. With the purchase by the Ford interests of the Lincoln company, the latter car was added to the Burk lines.

Following closely on the heels of the ten year lease of the Decatur Cafe by another Birmingham man, the sale was taken to indicate a revival of the real estate market here and to forecast other activity in the realty business.

Produce Grown Here Marketed

Despite the dry weather which has prevailed for the past eight weeks, truckers and gardeners of this section have learned how to grow vegetables without practically any rain. Each day in the Twin Cities there can be seen fine native grown turnips, tomatoes, radishes, peppers and other inviting vegetables brought from the country district roundabout. Several years ago, when the spring garden was exhausted, the idea was never carried out to make a fall crop of the same vegetables grown in the spring.
The fall garden idea has grown in great proportions during the last few years and now it is possible to have vegetables, home grown on the table every day of the year if the proper conditions are met. Emphasizing the fact often stated, that the Tennessee Valley is the garden spot of the country, and on account of climatic conditions offers one of the most inviting fields for effort and returns, to be found anywhere.

Four Men Hurt At Local Plant When Shed Falls

Four men were injured at 10:30 o'clock today at the plant of the American Oak Leather Co., while engaged in tearing down an old building, which collapsed, the timbers striking the workmen slightly injuring Joe Culver, he receiving cuts. L. C. Charles another workman sustained a fractured hip, and possible internal injuries. He was carried to Benevolent hospital. G. W. Portwood, who was considerable bruised about the body, was carried home. John McDowder had his rib broken, and possibly suffered internal injuries. He was taken to the office of Dr. Roan & Roan.

A hurried call was sent for the Twin City ambulance which responded and carried all the wounded men to where they could receive medical assistance.

NEGRO IS ROUGHLY HANDLED BY MOB

(Associated Press.)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 2.— Walter Wimberly negro today was in the county jail charged with larceny and assault and battery after a narrow escape from serious injury at the hands of a crowd, who had captured him after he is alleged to have struck Mrs. Jack Kranz, 2318 Second avenue north in the eye with his fist.

When city detectives arrived at the scene, they found the negro in possession of a gang of men, who had just captured him after he had escaped from a jewelry store, operated by Mrs. Kranz.

According to witnesses, the negro entered the establishment and requested Mrs. Kranz to show him watches. Shortly afterwards it was stated Mrs. Kranz noted that two watches from the tray were missing, and accused the negro of the theft.
The woman came from behind the counter and endeavored to take the watches from the negro's pocket.

Suddenly Wimberly withdrew from the woman's grasp and is alleged to have struck her in the eye, which shattered her glasses and knocked her unconscious. Mrs. Kranz in addition to receiving the full effect of the blow was badly cut and bruised by the glasses and was under care of a physician during the afternoon.

PLEADS GUILTY TO ABDUCTING CHILD

(By Associated Press.)
MUSKEGAN, Mich., Nov. 2.—Raymond E. Wilson, of Grand Rapids, arrested late last night on a charge of kidnapping eleven year old Rosalie Shanty, pleaded guilty to a charge of abduction when arraigned in circuit court here today.

Dr. Earl Fairbanks, of Luther, who has attended Rosalie at Dublin, issued a statement today declaring the girl's mind may be permanently affected as a result of her experiences.
He predicted she should recover physically, however.

"I will never go anywhere again unless papa and mamma are with me," the child is quoted as having said today.

HUSBAND OF SLAIN CHOIR LEADER TAKES ISSUE WITH MANY STATEMENTS MADE BY MRS. HALL IN NOTED MURDER CASE

Mills Declares He Suggested Couple May Have Eloped When He Met
Rector's Wife At Church

(Associated Press.)
NEW BRUNSWICK, Nov. 2.— Looking up from his work in a coal bin in the basement of the school house where he is janitor, James Mills, whose wife, Eleanor, was murdered with the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall on September 14, took issue today with some of the statements made yesterday by the clergyman's widow in an interview.

Mills said that he met Mrs. Hall at the church at 8:30 o'clock on the morning of September 15. Mrs. Hall said yesterday that she was at the church at 7 o'clock.

"I know it could not have been earlier than 8:30," said Mills because my children already had gone to school.

"The first thing Mrs. Hall asked me was 'was anybody sick at your house last night?' We then commented on the fact that both my wife and her husband were missing and I said
'maybe they have eloped.'

"No," was Mrs. Hall's reply. "I think something has happened to them."

"At noon when Mrs. Hall came to my house I told her I had not heard anything and she said she had not either. Then she went away. She is incorrect in her statements saying she did not come to my house again at 5:30 o'clock. I remember that I had just returned with some ice and put it into the refrigerator. She stayed only a minute.

"I saw Mrs. Hall again at 7 o'clock in her home. I went there to ask her if she had any news. I stayed on the porch to talk. She did not seem to take it as hard as I did. I had an idea that Dr. Hall and my wife had been together, but I did not think there was anything wrong. I don't know why I ever suggested an elopement."

Mills said that when he saw Mrs.
Hall at the church at 8:30 in the morning, she has assured him that she would notify the police. Mrs. Hall stated yesterday that she was not certain whether she called the police before or after she met Mills.

Commenting on Mrs. Hall's statement, that she was not vindictive and that she did not care to see any one punished for the murders, Mills said: "I am not vindictive either but I want to see the murderer punished.

I believe it was a woman's deed. All these theories about blackmail and robbery and things are rot. It was jealousy and I think her throat was cut in spite because of her beautiful singing."

"I never heard any gossip about my wife and Dr. Hall. If I had, I would not have stood for it for a single minute. I am man enough not to have kept that job at the church if I thought there was anything wrong between the minister and my wife. I live right and I want others to do the same. I would have gone to Mr. Hall and if he would not listen I would have gone to the bishop and took the vestry."

Mills said he had never heard of his wife having trouble with anybody and said he knew of no enemies that Dr. Hall might have had.

"There was plenty gossip about members of the choir though," he added.

The authorities are closely studying Mrs. Hall's replies to newspaper men yesterday in which the rector's widow voiced her faith in Dr. Hall; maintained she had no theories as to the murders said she did not seek revenge and denied the accusations made against her by Mrs. Jane H. Gibson.

TRIAL MAY START SOON

(Associated Press.)
SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 2.—The prediction that presentation of evidence in the Hall-Mills murder case would begin Saturday was freely made today in official circles.

It was learned that Sheriff Cock-lin had been notified to be prepared to call the Somerset County grand jury together in a hurry.

No notices, however, yet have been sent jurors.

The opinion prevailed here that the state would try to dispose of technicalities Saturday and Monday would seek an indictment.

Prime Minister Law Addresses Women

(Associated Press.)
LONDON, Nov. 2.—Prime Minister Bonar Law, in an address to a meeting of women in the Drury Lane theater this afternoon, reiterated that his policy was one of tranquility and stability.

"As regards foreign policy," he added, "I venture to express the hope that America may gradually take an interest in the League of Nations in some form or another and may gradually feel that it is her duty to help in the chaos in which the war has left the world."

FIRE CHIEF ILL

Sox Sorber is confined to his bed today with an attack of indigestion.
This is the second attack suffered by Mr. Sorber during the past 30 days, the last being of a mild character. He will be out in a day or two.

Native Of Morgan Given High Honors From Conference

The above picture is the likeness of Rev. Frank L. Aldridge, a Morgan County product, born and reared near Trinity, who entered the ministry about 25 years ago, and joined the North Alabama conference. Since that time he has pastored several important stations within the bounds of the conference, among them being Fayette, Sylacauga and Hartselle, where he remained for three years. For the past 18 years he has been statistical secretary of the annual conference, being re-elected to this important post at the conference now in session.

Rev. Aldridge was appointed by the annual conference of last year to the presidency of the Alabama Orphanage, an institution under the joint management of the South and North Alabama Methodist conference, which post he held until recently receiving the appointment at the hands of the board of trustees of the orphanage as financial secretary, and will enter the active ministry, receiving an appointment at the hands of the present conference, and will look after the financial side of the orphanage in connection with his duties as pastor.

During his incumbency as president of this most helpful institution, caring for orphan children, and giving them opportunities to prepare for useful lives, he has formulated some advanced ideas on the manner of conducting the affairs of this institution, and has visited many institutions of like character in other states, seeking to get a broader vision, that the scope of the work might be planned to give larger benefit to the child-life coming under the care of the church, the cottage plan is being studied by him with the view of adopting it as the plan of the Alabama Orphanage.

Under this plan, more home-like surroundings will be afforded, a limited number being kept in each cottage, with a matron to each home, making the work of rearing and caring for them much more effective.
Rev. Aldridge is a tireless worker in whatever field he undertakes, and the important post of financial secretary of this important conservation department of the church, will no doubt receive great stimulus to higher endeavors under his efficient leadership.

KIWANIS TO MEET

The regular luncheon of the Morgan Kiwanis will be held in the club rooms on Bank street this evening at 6 o'clock. All members are requested to report promptly at that hour.

21 APPLICANTS FOR MEMBERSHIP, WILL ABSTAIN FROM USE COMMITTEE SAYS

Bishops Dobb and Beauchamp Cordially Received By Conference Delegates

CENTENARY MOVEMENT
DISCUSSED AT LENGTH

Bishop Beauchamp One Of Principal Speakers Of The Day's Session

The second day's session of the conference of the North Alabama Methodist conference, now in session in the First Methodist church of De-caturn, was opened by Presiding Bishop Murrah, who called on Rev. R. M.
Fifer, following the reading of the minutes of Wednesday's business session by Secretary Morris and their approval. Bishop Murrah, asked Bishop Dobb and Beauchamp to come forward. These leaders of the church were greeted with applause and many hand shakes as they took their seats at the Presiding Bishop's side. On motion of Dr. G. W. Read, 11 o'clock today was set as the time to hear Bishop Beauchamp on the "Centen-nary Movement, and on motion 10 o'clock Thursday was set as the time to hear Bishop Hoyt M. Dobb on the Educational Program of the Southern Church.

A number of prominent visitors were introduced to the convention Dr.
John W. Barton and Dr. W. P. Wilks.
Bishop Murrah said as he presented the local Baptist minister: "Brother Wilks of the Central Baptist church, and I hope he will feel at home." Dr.
Frank Willis Barnett was also called for, but was not in the building at the time.

Discussion Aroused Over Tobacco When question No. 1 was asked by the Bishop, "Who present themselves for membership to the conference," Dr. John S. Chadwick, the secretary of the committee on examinations, stated that 21 were applicants, and that their moral character had passed. Dr. Chadwick stated that in line with the ruling of the general conference against the use of tobacco by new applicants the committee had exacted a promise from each of the 21 ministerial applicants that they would abstain from the use of tobacco.

Dr. L. C. Branscomb said that while he voted against the general conference ruling, as a delegate that he thought the rule against the use of tobacco should be rigidly enforced.
Dr. Scott, of the Jasper district, spoke along the line that fasting and prayer was also enjoined, but as far as he could see nobody was fasting and he could not see by such a "row" should be aroused over one thing.

At this juncture Rev. R. I. Walston, asked Dr. Scott, some questions and then the bishop's gavel sounded, and he said "I cannot allow the brethren to interrogate each other after this fashion," and he called for the next order. At the close of the discussion Bishop Murrah said that while he smoked some that "opposition to the use of tobacco was on the increase in this country," and he said it was sure to seriously embarrass new members in the future if they

WE FAVOR ACCEPTANCE OF HENRY FOR'S BID FOR MUSCLE SHOALS.

THE METHODIST CONFERENCE IS WELCOME; IT IS A NOTABLE GATHERING.

The annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, for the northern half of Alabama which opened in Decatur Wednesday morning, brings to this community something like 300 clerical members and around 100 lay members. This does not include the hundreds of visitors that will attend the conference as welcome guests.

Every activity of the business, social and religious life of the community will be quickened by the presence of the large conference. The good people will help us to be our best. This newspaper but echoes the sentiment of every person in this section of the state when it says that the North Alabama Methodist Conference—it welcomes, thrice welcome. Many of the delegates to the present conference have been here before and consequently they are no strangers to us, or we to them. A good percentage of this conference doubtless, attended their annual gathering held some ten years ago, in the Central Methodist church of Albany. Bishop Henry Clay Morrison now dead presided over that conference. And Dr. J. W. Newman, whom so many local people learned to love when he was pastor of the First Methodist church of Decatur, was the Secretary of that conference. He too has passed to the great beyond. If memory serves correctly, Rev. J. A. T. Brandon, the sainted father of Governor-elect W. W. Brandon attended the conference here ten years ago, and took a leading part in the so-called "love feast" held toward the close. The memory of the fallen dead is not unmixed with pain for those who knew them well, but their lives and what they did in other conference will doubtless be an inspiration to the present gathering.

Not a few of the ministers who will be present this week, are well known and highly esteemed by local people from the fact that at different times they have served charges in the Decatur district.

It has been publically announced that the pulpits of most of the churches of the twin cities and surrounding country, will be occupied on Sunday by various visiting ministers who are members of the Decatur conference.

This announcement has been heard with genuine pleasure, and many will doubtless avail themselves of the privilege. There is a larger appreciation among all religious people, for what difference sects are trying to do and to teach than in the good old days of heated controversy. It is a matter of public knowledge that every church of this section heartily welcomes the conference.

EQUAL RIGHT FOR SQUAWS.

Things are not what they once were on the reservation, in the tepee and in the councils of war and state. Chief Big Horse is no longer the omniscient and omnipotent lord of all he surveys, nor is the hitherto meek and lowly squaw wholly and completely a menial now. The urge of sexual equality that has stirred the breasts of her sisters of a fairer hue is now leading the females of bronzed complexion to large hopes and some realization. In one of the surveying tribes of noble red men a lowly squaw has been selected as chief, or chieftainess if you will, and her title to eminence and authority is not questioned by the once lordly bucks.

The highest reaches of civilized culture seem to be bending back to primitive levels. A new world within an old one is now in the process of creation. Thousands of years of tradition are being swept aside and ancient serfdom is giving place to "the new freedom." Nor is it a freak of one tribe that now commands attention. In another, that of Winnebagos, the Princess Newana Gayfish recently emerged from "the forests primeval" and inferiority without beginning to claim rights and privileges that are her due as the other half of the human race.

We are told that the princess bobbed her hair, put on short skirts and adopted all the other outward shows of feminine independence. Her father, Chief Running Wolf, and her husband, Dan Gayfish, and the other bucks put on a war dance that for length and noise has never been equalled, but all to no avail. The little princess turned her back on husband and father and tribe and betook herself to the city where she will live as she desires to live. Rather than be a princess of servility she chooses to be a little sister of freedom and that she can be so she must close her ears forever to every "call of the wild."

But Mrs. Gayfish, or Miss Freedom, as she may call herself, will learn that bobbed hair does not independence make, nor short skirts equality. They may be the symbols of but not the substance of liberty. As a matter of fact if she becomes objectionable to the mode of outer habiliments she will find that she has but exchanged the serfdom of tribal tradition for the slavery of style. And this sort of slavery is accepted by large numbers of her sisters for the purpose of pleasing the lords and masters of the other sex just as the millions of her own race and sex have bent their backs under the drudgery of toil for the same reason. She will find for herself there are slaves of civilization as well as slaves of savagery.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

HALLOWE'EN IS A SEASON FOR FUN BUT NOT FOR VICIOUSNESS.

One delightful feature of the "Hob-Goblin" season is that it gives excuse for children to have delightful parties, in which witches and black cats figure in decorations and costumes, and merriment runs high. Innocent pranks enliven the occasion and fun is general. Unfortunately all Halloween pranks are not innocent ones and sometimes the night is made one of disorder by the revelers who carry the joke too far and do damage to property and to the feelings of some of their victims.

Carried out merely as a night of merriment, without going to an extreme, Halloween can and should be an occasion in which pleasure can be great without being harmful. There is no necessity for instance, for young celebrators to carry off the front steps to a house or take down the sign of a store. Ringing of door bells is annoying enough, but it is not so bad as finding one's front porch chairs a block away on some other person's porch.

Halloween, when it started far back in the mists of time, was the night when evil spirits were supposed to flock out of hiding and roam the evil spirits inherited and ably handled by Willie, Tom, Pat and the rest of the youthful "gang."

It illustrates how next to impossible it is to get a custom or superstition out of the human brain, once it gets there.

On the ancient agricultural calendar, Halloween was a sort of New Year's day. Harvest was over and the landlord called for his share of the crops raised by tenant farmers.

It was a custom for him to arrive late in the evening and make merry at such pastimes as cider drinking and apple bobbing. When the fun was over and the landlord got down to business it was early morning of Nov. 1.

Probably this is why the first of the month is rent paying day instead of the 15th or any other late that would be just as logical.

Time was when Halloween was less a night of deviltry and more a night of hospitality, good fellowship, roaring fireplaces, good things to eat and drink, and delightful superstitions such as walking down cellar stairs backward, carrying a candle and a mirror in which "her" future husband's face might appear.—Anniston Star.

NO LIQUOR ON SHIPS

Regardless of the fact that it may have been well time for political effect the ruling of Attorney General Daugherty approved by President Harding, prohibiting the carrying of intoxicants on all vessels flying the American flag whether under control of the shipping board or not, and upon all foreign vessels coming within the three mile limit is the only logical action which could have been taken in view of the national attitude which has been written into the country's fundamental law.

A vessel carrying the United States flag is United States territory, no matter where it is. An offense against such a vessel, though it may be at Hong Kong or Mozambique is an offense against the United States. The whole force of the army and navy of the United States stands back of that vessel as long as its activities are legal and right. And for that protection the vessel owes allegiance to the country's laws.

Likewise any foreign vessel coming into the United States territory is called upon at least to respect the laws of the country. Neither officer nor member of the crew of such a vessel has any more right to transport intoxicating liquors into this country than he has to commit murder or rob the home of a citizen.

The rule as issued by the attorney general removes the objection of unfair competition raised by the shipping board when the demand first came for the exclusion of intoxicants from American ships. It was pointed out that the bulk of the passenger travel which is a considerable source of revenue would flock to the foreign vessels the minute American vessels ceased to serve drinks. Now under the ruling since foreign vessels cannot carry liquors, they cannot serve them.

The traveler may take his choice of flags but legally he must go without his drink regardless of the color of the banner under which he is sailing. The question is whether he will have to do without it in actual practice.

The department of justice will be closely watched and checked up in the quality and degree of its enforcement of this ruling. American vessels will, in the main, heed and obey it. The department will fail in its duty to the nation unless it provides equally rigid enforcement as to foreign vessels at least until the courts shall say it did wrong in including them in the order.—Atlanta Constitution.

HARDING TO RUN AGAIN?

Harry M. Daugherty, attorney general in the cabinet of President Harding and his closest political adviser, is credited with a statement at Columbus, Ohio, which would set at rest the talk that Mr. Harding will not be a candidate to succeed himself. According to Mr. Daugherty:

It no doubt is recognized that the President is the man in the United States who always has responded to the expectations of the Republican party. The publications and propaganda to the effect that he does not expect to be a candidate are for the purpose altogether dissociated from any information as to the facts. At least, it may be announced more or less officially that no consideration has been given to the matter of a second term, especially none by the President himself. The President always has waived the question aside, saying: "If the administration succeeds, nothing can stop succession, and if it fails it ought to be succeeded by another." His wishes will have little to do with the matter in either case.

Daugherty enters Ohio in an effort to stem the tide that is running against the administration. He makes an appeal to Ohio voters not to repudiate a son of Ohio.

The appeal seems to have little effect. Two newspapers conducting secret polls of the electorate report increasing leads for the Democratic candidates for the United States Senator and Governor. Candidates in the Republican primaries have come out openly for the Democratic nominees. The trend toward Democracy appears to be growing stronger.

The Columbus Dispatch and the Cincinnati Enquirer are conducting the polls. The poll of the latter newspaper has a record of something akin to uncanny accuracy. The feature of the latter poll is the revolt among Republicans in Cincinnati. Another feature of the Ohio Canvass is the editorial indorsement of Senator Atlee Pomerene by the Enquirer.

That the significance of this may not be lost, let it be understood that the Enquirer is the property of Edward B. McLean, who also owns the Washington Post, the Harding court organ. Mr. McLean and the President are close personal friends—in fact, there is no closer friendship at the national capital, unless it is that of Lasker and the President. It may be that McLean is miffed at being forced from the rail by the Shipping Board chairman. At any rate, a newspaper which the republicans had every right to turn against them.

The President himself has taken a deep interest in the Ohio race. He has contributed $1,000 to the state campaign fund and the choice national speaker's are being sent there to add their plea to that of Daugherty to back up the President.

The result in Ohio will have much to do with the shaping of the policies of 1924, if the President cannot hold his state this year, it may be depended upon that the insurgency in the Republican ranks against Daugherty and the Harding policies will become more aggressive.

In the regular course of events, Harding will be a candidate to succeed himself. He cannot refuse to run with out laying himself open to the charge that he has been a failure and isn't game enough to stand the gaff. On the other hand, he is an extremely vain personage, and he may see that things arraign themselves so that he can retire an undefeated candidate and let somebody else take the licking that is coming to him.—Nashville Tennessean.

Slight showers have occurred over the county for the past few days, tho not enough to be of very great assistance. Fall plowing has been greatly retarded on account of the dry weather, and in many instances water for stock is very scarce. In many instances it is necessary to haul it from the creeks which abound in the county. Many wells have failed also. There hinderances are offset in considerable degree on account of the fact that planters have been enabled to gather their crops without practically any rain on them, and the sample of cotton has been fine from beginning to the end. It is stated by many planters of the county that the crops are practically gathered, with the exception of some scattered cotton and corn. Several frosts have occurred which made the gathering of corn advisable, and many seized the opportunity to get out of the bottom lands before the winter rains set in. Some planters state that they are going right along with their fall plowing, using the disc plow, with which it is possible to turn practically dry land. Should a season come soon, it is said that many will sow wheat and winter oats. It has long been the idea of many farmers of this country to sow enough wheat to meet their requirements, and it has done fairly well.

Like John Adams, Woodrow Wilson was a school teacher, being president of Princeton University before being elected governor of New Jersey. He was born in Virginia, in 1856, once lived in Atlanta, Georgia, tried the law, and then became a college professor. He brought the nation triumphantly through the world's greatest war, and his name will go down in history linked with that of Washington and Lincoln. Wilson is a recognized historian, a forceful and eloquent speaker, and an ardent advocate of world peace. His almost superhuman effort to effect means to insure world peace wrecked his health, from which he is just now about recovered. Immediately preceding and during the world war, he was the spokesman for more than half of the entire world, and the beacon star of hope to the oppressed of all lands. His state letters while president were very able and forceful, and never failed to attract great attention. When his term as president terminated, he retired to private life, and is yet a great power in the nation's political affairs. He is a Presbyterian, and has been twice married.

Those who deal in glittering generalities depend on keeping the mystifying effort of the use of much words to convey impressions sought to be made. The contrary is the rule of those who speak in specific terms. In this instance the impressions are crystallized, and without effort the meaning is grasped in an instant.

As we fail to read aright the wonderful signs in changing nature all about us, just so far do we fail to be impressed with the wonderful laws of the supernatural, and the measure in which we comprehend these truths is the sum total of what we have gained of an indestructible nature, in our short journey through life.

Those who fail to admire and appreciate the unfolding beauty of child-life as step by step young and inquiring minds grasp the meaning of the law of life, are missing opportunity to comprehend to any extent the dynamic power for good wrapped up in the great army of the young, who are so soon to be the administrators of all the affairs of life, the very things their inquiring young minds are now learning.

The days of the political spell-binder is past. Now there must be campaigns made, predicated upon the fact that the foundation for argument is fundamentally right. There was a time when men failed to think, and accepted the other fellows conclusions at face value. They are now looking to the source of the current, and whither it will drift them by following it.

If ever a country needed to solidify its thought along the avenues of things worth while, that time is now. So many divergence of opinions keep the uninitiated constantly bending effort in the wrong direction, only to return to the starting point and take new bearings and begin the journey anew.

Why not do it without being told, namely your Christmas shopping.

That reminds us of another odd sign we once saw along the road:

Make of me what you will—I shall reflect you as clearly as a mirror throws back a candle beam.

If I am pleasing to the eye of the stranger within my gates, if I am such a sight as, having seen me, he will remember me all the days as a thing of beauty, the credit is yours.

Ambition and opportunity call some of my sons and daughters to high tasks and mighty privileges, to my greater honor and to my good repute in far places, but it is not chiefly those who are my strength. My strength is in those who remain, who are content with what I can offer them and with what they can offer me. I am more than wood and brick and stone, more even than flesh and blood—I am the composite of all who call me home.

SOLDIERS HELP TO CAPTURE BIG STILL NEAR FLINT CREEK

(Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—An increase of more than $265,000,000 in the public debt during October is shown in figures made public today by the treasury.

On October 31 the gross public debt stood at $23,077,000,000 as compared with $22,812,000,000 on September 30 and with $23,459,000,000 on October 31, 1921.

Issuance of government securities in excess of redemptions during the month, particularly the half billion dollar bond issue, treasury officials explained, was responsible for the increase, but was not regarded as interfering with the orderly reduction of the national debt which is effected quarterly.

Executive Session

The hour and a half preceding the address of Bishop Beauchamp at 11 o'clock was taken up in voting, on the 21 new ministers, who applied to be named as ministers, and in questioning those who wished to be admitted to continued connection.

Dr. Johnson of Louisville was introduced with Dr. Frank Willis Barnett, Rev. G. C. Walker, pastor of S. S. Baptist church, J. Bibb Mills, W. D. Agnew, Dr. J. W. Perry, the last named addressed the convention in behalf of home missions. Preceding the introduction of Bishop Beauchamp Dr. W. G. Cram returned missionary from Korea, who succeeds the Bishop in the centenary movement leadership, made an address stressing important features. Bishop Beauchamp who is credited with assuring the success of the movement, being its first leader, told the conference whatever obstacles were met they must be overcome. A marble baptismal font has been presented to the First Methodist church by Mrs. R. N. Harris, Jr., of Town Creek in memory of her father, the late W. W. Littlejohn.

Wednesday Night's Session

The final session of the first day's session of the North Alabama Methodist Conference, was addressed here last night by Dr. John W. Shackelford of Nashville, chairman of the Sunday school board of the Southern Church. He was introduced by J. B. Wadsworth, of Gadsden, who is chairman of the Sunday school board of the North Alabama conference.

The devotional exercises were conducted by Dr. John S. Chadwick of Nashville. Dr. Shackelford's address was a masterly presentation of the duty of the present, to the generation just ahead.

"It is not what we are or endure" said the speaker, but what is carried over from us to the next generation." Dr. Shackelford prefaced his address by telling what Woodrow Wilson sacrificed rather than give up his fight for the ratification of the Versailles treaty, with the covenant of the League of Nations included.

Wednesday Afternoon's Session

The chief feature of the afternoon of the first day of the conference was a sermon-address at 3 o'clock by Dr. L. C. Branscomb, of Birmingham until lately editor of the Alabama Christian Advocate. This speaker's subject was: "The Angel in the storm." Dr. Branscomb expressed it as his conviction that as a matter of practical experience "the Angel of the Lord is round about them that fear Him." He chose as his text: "There stood by me this night, the angel of God," St. Paul's words, Acts 27-23. "Surrounded by bigotry and injustice, and the prey of jealousy and hatred among false brethren in his own land St. Paul was journeying toward Rome, the imperial city of the world in his time," said the speaker and added "We find a counter part in our own experience, to that of the Apostle. In our sorrows and disappointments in this fallen world we find our selves looking toward the eternal city of God." In the second place the preacher warned against beginning the heavenly voyage too late, and declared the procrastination was Satan's strongest ally. Reference was made to Paul's word to the sailors on the Rome bound ship that the start had been made too late in the season to insure against the late autumn storms. He declared that Paul was laughed to scorn, and his attention called to the "soft south winds." The preacher warned against ease and pleasure, and said that just as the terrible Adriatic "Euroclydon" followed the soft south winds during Paul's journey, just so surely would we come to those who were "at ease in Zion." "Sin is as charming, at first as the soft South winds," declared the speaker, but he earnestly warned against its final consequences. It was pointed out that because Paul was ship wrecked on Malta he did not stay on that foreign island, but continued his journey to his chosen destination. The closing sentiments of the speaker, were calculated to inspire hope and courage in any who had met with failure and disappointment.

Regimental Sergeant-Major W. Stuart of the famous Black Watch, hero of Mons, Ypres and the Somme, was right at home with his American "buddies" in the American Legion convention in New Orleans, for two American divisions—the Twenty-seventh, of New York, and the Thirtieth, of North and South Carolina and Tennessee—had fought alongside his outfit in Flanders.

Peculiarity of Wood.

There is a figure which may be brought out prominently in certain kinds of woods, mostly those of tropical origin, says the American Forestry Magazine. This is variously known as roe, ribbon grain, feather grain, etc., and appears as narrow to broad longitudinal stripes, alternating light and dark. This is due, not to actual differences in color, but to the way in which the light is reflected by

TACKY PARTY.

One of the most enjoyable social affairs of the year was the bridge party of which Mrs. J. Sheets, of Evansville, Ind., was the inspiration on yesterday afternoon. It was given by Mrs. R. H. Wolcott at her beautiful home on Gordon Drive. Mrs. Wolcott was attired in all white costume.

The living room was a veritable garden of huge white chrysanthemums, while in the dining room large yellow chrysanthemums were used. Probably the prettiest spot in the house was the sun parlor, made so by the use of gorgeous lavender fall flowers, and here the table was placed and the motorcade, dressed in black silk with trimmings of lace, played at this table first. Each of the eleven tables was covered with dainty white linen covers and on each was a bon-bon dish filled with nuts and yellow and white mint.

The first prize a cream and sugar, was awarded to Mrs. T. A. Caddell, she having made highest score, the second prize fell to Mrs. Gill, Mrs. Woodard received the booby.

Mrs. Sheets was presented two handmade handkerchiefs as a memento of this delightful party. After the prizes had been distributed Mrs. Wolcott, assisted by Mrs. Marvin Rankin and Mrs. J. L. Gunter, served a salad course.

This hospitality was extended to the following: Mesdames W. R. Smith, H. T. Gill, J. Sheets, A. E. Humphrey, J. L. Echols, B. Pruett, F. Tidwell, W. E. Crawford, B. Crawford, E. W. Gogbey, O. C. ### HALLOWEEN PARTY

TRINITY, Ala., Nov. 2.—One of the prettiest and most unique Halloween parties ever given in this section was at the grammar school auditorium Tuesday night. The program consisted of costume dances, plays, and drills, and the whole community seemed to abound in fairies, witches, goblins and black cats. Many interesting readings and plays were presented during the program.

After the regular program was completed the audience, young and old, repaired to the various booths where art galleries, Hawaiian dancers, magic incubators, etc., were to be seen and fortune tellers could be interrogated as to the future.

The net result was something like $25.00 for the benefit of the school.

PRISON REPORT MADE

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—Alabama's penitentiary lacked eight prisoners of having thirty-one hundred at the beginning of the new month. Records of the state convict department today showed that the total when books were closed October 31 stood at 3,092. During October 157 new prisoners were received, a decrease of eighteen from the number received during October, 1921. In September 91 new convicts arrived at the prisons compared with 114 in September, 1921.

State convicts are now divided as follows: White males, 929; negro males, 2,026; white females, nine; negro females, 128.

What Babylon Handed Us.

The new system of dividing the day into 24 hours, invented by the Babylonians, was adopted by the Greeks and since then it has been handed down from generation to generation without any alteration, because nobody has dared to change it. Even the French revolutionists, who introduced a large and elaborate series of innovations in the system of weights and measures, and went so far as to change the names and order of the days of the week, did not attempt to alter the day's division into 24 hours.

Protect the Paintings.

The greatest enemy to works of art in any form is damp. Avoid damp at all costs. Dust should never be allowed to accumulate behind pictures—should damp get there the dust will retain it for a considerable period. Insects and flies should not be allowed the liberty of rooms containing oil paintings, the spots they make upon the paint being most difficult to remove after standing.

First Tea Advertisement.

The first advertisement of a certain everyday article which ever appeared in the English Press was published in the Mercurius Politicus on September 30th, 1658. It read:—"That excellent and by all Physicians approved China drink called by the Chinese Tcha, by other Nations Tay alias Tee, is sold at the Sultanees Head Cophee House in Sweetings Rents, by the Royal Exchange, London." This advertisement proves, by its mention of "cophee house," that the sister stimulant had got a start of tea as a beverage.

"The Panhandle."

As commonly used in this part of the country, the phrase "the panhandle" usually refers to the north-west projection of Texas, though the name is also given to the narrow, wedge-shaped strip of land lying between Pennsylvania and Ohio, which forms part of the state of West Virginia.

DECLARES RADIO INVENTIONS RANK ARMSTRONG WITH EDISON AND BELL

In the Armstrong Operating Room.

"What Edison is to electricity and Bell to the telephone, Edwin H. Armstrong is to the radio-phonograph. If the radio is to be transformed, Armstrong will be one of the men who will transform it. The present generation is just beginning to hear of him, but the world will have a long time ring with his name. No man can do what he has already done without taking his place among the world's notable men. Armstrong's ability to become interested will make him spread his fame everywhere."

This is the opinion of A. L. Benson, who discusses this inventor upon whom public interest is now focused and his relation to the youngest of the arts, in the November issue of Hearst's International Magazine. Lack of capital and long drawn-out litigation did not deter Armstrong in his researches.

"Armstrong," writes Mr. Benson, "found the radio talking like a hair-lipped man and left it singing like a nightingale. Three revolutionary inventions, all made by Armstrong, placed the radio-phonograph where it is. It is the third invention, the super-regenerative circuit, of which not even one radio fan in a thousand has ever heard, that makes the radio-phonograph sing like a nightingale. The invention is so recent that the manufacturers have not yet had time to place it on the market."

"As a result of Armstrong's invention," says Mr. Benson, "the threatened war between amateurs and the general public—or at least the listening public—is off. For amateurs may now practice when they please without interfering with the pleasure of others. Also, the three million of so acries which went up so rapidly last March will probably cease again just as rapidly. The Armstrong super-regenerative circuit needs no aerial."

"Armstrong is a fine example of the extent to which an idea can take hold of and dominate a human being," says Mr. Benson. "When a problem seizes him, he gives it to everything he has. He did this with the radio again and again, sometimes working years on a single thing. Yet I suspect that his normal attitude is one of repose. His mind really begins to glow only when it is energized by a problem that appeals to him."

How the Care of Eyebrows and Lashes Adds to Beauty

By LUCREZIA BORI
The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

YOUR eyes dominate the expression of your face. Just as the sparkle and color of your eyes are inseparably associated with your so do your brows and lashes play an inseparable part in enhancing or marred the beauty of your eyes.

How architecturally beautiful, would lose much of its charm if it were flanked by a scrubby lawn with scanty trees. A well-kept lawn and a beautiful foliage play as important a part, and somewhat the same part in the perfection of the house as a whole, as your brows and lashes play in forming a background to the charm of your eyes.

Brush the Eyebrows.

To give the neat, well-groomed appearance so essential to symmetry and beauty, the brows must be kept smooth and sleek, with all the hairs lying in the same direction. For this purpose, a small, stiff-bristled brush may be purchased at any drug store or toilet goods counter. Brush your brows first with an upward motion, then straight across, so that they form a well-defined ridge with all the hairs lying in the same direction. This corrects the unbecoming appearance which is so unattractive, especially if you are inclined to have bushy eyebrows.

Details of this kind which go to complete the toilette may seem tedious at first, and the busy woman may feel that she can hardly afford the time to practice various beauty aids which are suggested. Every woman realizes, however, the importance of just such small things in her appearance as a whole. Also, to the woman who practices them, comes the realization that these little details become habits and are accomplished almost as quickly as they are thought about. In the case of the eyebrow brush, a touch of the brush to your brows as you apply the last dash of powder to your nose, will be no real effort, and you will be well pleased with the result.

Coaxing Short Lashes.

Have you ever used tweezers to define the line of your eyebrows? Some women object to this because they say it gives a hard, unnatural line to the face. Among these objectors, a magazine illustrator of renown maintains that, from the beauty standpoint, eyebrows should remain as they have naturally grown.

His opinion is heartily endorsed by those who have been shocked at the sight of eyebrows showing such strenuous use of the tweezers that they are reduced to a mere thin line above the eye. However, the careful removal of a few scattered hairs, to prevent unnecessary widening of your brows, may be encouraged rather than frowned upon.

Yellow mercuric oxide, one-half per cent, is commonly prescribed for granulated lids, but it is also very good for promoting growth of the lashes. It can be bought at any drug store.

You must be careful not to rub the mercuric oxide into your eyes, as it will smart them. A small amount applied above your upper lashes and below your underlashes before retiring often works wonders in coaxing lashes to grow.

Persia Now Educates Women.

In Persia, where parents at one time were glad to be rid of their girls and willingly sold them for a few dollars, there is now a strong desire for educated women, as evidenced by the establishment of industrial and other schools for girls.

Recipitous.

West Indian Tribe Interesting Study

(Associated Press.)
COPENHAGEN, Oct. 31.—The remains of certain Indian tribes of the West Indies, who became extinct some 400 years ago, are to be excavated and studied by two European scientists. Already Dr. Edmund Hatt, inspector of the Danish national museum, and Professor I. P. B. de Josselin de Jong, of Holland, are on their way to Saint Thomas, Virgin Islands, to embark upon the work of digging for records of the habits and doings of this inextinct race.

The Virgin Islands and some of the West Indian islands of Great Britain and Holland will be visited. The tribes in question emigrated from South America, but was wiped out of existence by the Spanish conquerors during the two generations that followed the discovery of America.

COTTON PILES UP

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—The Chamber of Commerce of Albertville and cotton dealers of Marshall county today petitioned the public service commission to issue an order requiring the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad to issue bills of lading for cotton delivered to the railroad at Albertville and Boaz and to provide cars for the transportation of such cotton.

The petition alleged that large shipments of cotton are now held in the two towns and that the railroad has declined to furnish cars for the transportation of the cotton to market.

SCIENTISTS LABOR TO CONTROL LOCUST

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—The quiet, unobtrusive labor of two Philadelphia scientists during recent years in the realm of locusts, grasshoppers and katydids may save the United States millions of dollars, in the future. It is demonstrated each year in the Near East, South America, and other regions, how possible it is for a locust horde, large enough to darken the sky for hours, to raise out of nowhere and eat to the ground thousands of miles of harvest. This has happened even in the United States, and a recurrence is what the scientists are laboring to prevent.

The two men, James A. G. Rehm, recording secretary of the Academy of Sciences, this city, and Morgan Hebard, research associate, returned recently from a tour of Southwest United States in the course of which they gathered no less than 9,000 locust specimens. Mr. Rehm declared that they are now approaching the end of the survey they set themselves to make of this portion of the insect world fifteen years ago.

"One can never know," declared Mr. Rehm, "when some species will arise in overwhelming numbers, as the Rocky Mountain locust did in the late seventies and early eighties. This species swept from its native habitat in Montana and the Northwest generally, clear down through the wheat states as far South as Texas devouring every growing thing in its path."

"The annual cost to the world at large of locust plagues is about $100,000,000. Last year 5,000 acres in British Columbia were stripped and in the Orient, South Africa, the Levant, and South America these insects descend on crops with deadly regularity. The great value of the expeditions fostered by the Academy is that they place at the disposal of agricultural stations in this country and elsewhere definite information of the habits, geographical preference, and data on the conditions which favor their development."

In the building of the Academy of Science here there are approximately four hundred thousand specimens of locusts, representing 40,000 separate and distinct species, the largest collection in the world. Supporting the specimens is an unparalleled store of well-correlated data, readily available for reference.

Memorial Tree Remains On Capital Grounds; Governor Refuses Request

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily.)

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Nov. 1.—Governor Kilby told a delegation from the United Daughters of the Confederacy yesterday that he could not join in the request to the Boy Scouts to remove from the capitol grounds the tree planted Friday as a memorial to Theodore Roosevelt. Formal request that he join in the movement was made at a conference of the Daughters, who had as their spokeswoman Mrs. Bibb Graves of Montgomery.

Governor Kilby told the delegation that the tree was planted with the consent of W. A. Darden, custodian of the capitol, and that he approved Mr. Darden's course. He then was asked by the delegation to join the Daughters of the Confederacy in a request to the Boy Scouts to take the tree from the capitol grounds.

"I was not able to comply with the request," said Governor Kilby. "However, I did tell the delegation that if the Boy Scouts made a voluntary request for permission to take the tree from the capitol grounds it would be granted."

The delegation left the executive department and passed out to their automobiles which were parked not far from the little tree whose branches were swinging in the breeze as a silent memorial to President Roosevelt, one of the exponents and supporters of the Boy Scout movement during his life.

After the conference, those who attended it declined to give any information about it or to furnish the names of those in the delegation. However, it is known that Mrs. Bibb Graves was spokeswoman and that

The Rape of the Lock.
"He has invented a long story out of a single and not very interesting fact," writes Henry T. Tuckerman of "The Rape of the Lock" by Pope. "and he has told his tale in language the most choice, and rhymes the most correct. The poem is like the fruits and flowers of precious stones set in the exquisite pietra dura tables of Italy—clear, fanciful, rarely combined, but unwarmed with any glow of nature, and better calculated to awaken admiration than excite sympathy."

the following members of the Daughters of the Confederacy were in the conference: Mrs. W. A. Gayle, Mrs. Belle Ellen Ross, Mrs. J. Warren Jones, Mrs. Ed Holt, Mrs. Bibb Graves and Mrs. Cary.
